Learning Credits Fact Sheet

TransAmerica Training Management (TAM) in conjunction with Oracle University is able to assist the education decision maker in managing current and future Oracle training needs by offering Oracle Learning Credits. Reduce your organization's overall training costs by purchasing training in advance and, based on purchase volume, purchase your Learning Credits at a discount.

Learning Credit Benefits

- Reduce training costs with volume discounts
- Save time and money by budgeting for training upfront
- Buy Learning Credits in bulk and simplify your Purchase Order process
- Easily manage and track training costs
- Allocate Learning Credits by group, division or individual
- Manage planned and "last-minute" training needs
- Use Learning Credits for instructor-led, self-study, online and on-site training events

Save Time and Money with Learning Credits

Is managing the Oracle training requirements of your staff a priority? Each time an employee needs Oracle training -- do you have to start the approval and purchase process all over again? With Learning Credits, you can better manage your Oracle training needs by:

- Planning and budgeting for training
- Easily managing, forecasting and tracking training costs
- Saving on future training costs with volume discounts
- Responding quickly to new or "last-minute" training requirements, without having to open new purchase orders
